CHOICES FOR THIS WEEK

We live in times of rapid change socially, economically, emotionally and religiously with anxiety deepening not only about the future but even about the present. Such uncertainty is often compounded by not knowing what to believe or whom to trust. False news permeates our environment locally, nationally and internationally. Bad news is rampant everywhere. Good news struggles to be heard. Truth is quickly side-lined in personal and communal decision making today.

What can each one of us do?

Sometimes, we know that something is definitely false and yet, we repeat it. We lie. Every lie no matter how small adds to the pollution of our environment. Every truth spoken strengthens the canvas of our relationships on which our whole lives are woven. Times of crisis are times of choices.

What choices will I make this week?

To pollute or to enrich?

Fr. Tom Clancy
