1st Sunday of Advent

DAYLIGHT SOON

It has been said that the two men most responsible for freeing the world from the horrors of the last world war hated war themselves. Roosevelt and Churchill spoke of the horrors of the first world war and how they wished it would never be repeated. Yet both of them had a similar message for their people when faced by evil and the growing power of evil.....wake up, be prepared. Most of their people did not listen.....until it was too late.

St. Paul knows that people are not listening.....occupied by quarrelsome and selfish behaviour, preferring the darkness, just like it was in Noah's day when a solitary man built a boat that was going nowhere.....until the flood came. Nobody had listened until it was too late.

Most people think of Advent as preparing for something that has already happened, the birth of the Saviour, Jesus Christ. The time is now, St. Paul says, salvation is nearer. Jesus talks about the future coming of the Son of man to encourage people to take responsibility for the present time. Isaiah says to "go up to the high mountain", that He may teach you his ways". But people may not listen until it is too late.

The time is now, St. Paul says, it will be daylight soon.
